

Insulation

Insulation is something that stops heat from passing through it.

1. Write down the temperature on the thermometer.

2. Put the thermometer in the sock for a couple of minutes.

3. Take the thermometer out of the sock and read the temperature of the thermometer.

4. Did it have a big change? _____

5. Put your hand in the sock and put the thermometer in the sock too. Leave it there a couple of minutes.

6. Take out the thermometer and read it. Write down the temperature. _____

7. Was there a big change? _____

8. What made the temperature change the second time?

